

Licence to BMJ Publishing Group Limited (“BMJ”) and British Medical Acupuncture Society (BMAS)

To be agreed to by the corresponding author or guarantor on behalf of all authors, (“Corresponding Author”); all authors collectively are referred to as the “Contributors”.

In consideration of BMJ (“the Publisher”) and BMAS considering to publish the article contained within the original manuscript which includes without limitation any diagrams, photographs, other illustrative material, video, film or any other material howsoever submitted by the Contributor(s) at any time and related to the Contribution, (“the Contribution”) in Acupuncture in Medicine (“the journal”), certain rights are required to be granted by each different category of author(s), which are as follows:

1. For employees of the UK Crown acting in the course of their employment, a non exclusive Licence, as set out below. All provisions of this document apply. The non exclusivity relates to the original submitted manuscript, video, films, images, photographs, diagrams and/or illustrative material only.
2. For employees of the US Federal Government acting in the course of their employment, no copyright exists and the Contribution is in the public domain so no licence is required to be granted. The Author Warranties below apply (excluding 1.iii).
3. For all other authors, an exclusive Licence, as set out below. All provisions of this document apply.

NB where a Contribution is a multi authored work, each author’s element of the Contribution will be dealt with in accordance with 1, 2 or 3 above, as applicable.

The licence

The Licence granted in accordance with 1 or 3 above is:
A worldwide licence to the Publisher and its licensees in perpetuity (subject to the Reversion of Rights set out below), in all forms, formats and media (whether known now or created in the future), to i) publish, reproduce, distribute, display and store the Contribution, ii) translate the Contribution into other languages, create adaptations, reprints, include within collections and create summaries, extracts and/or, abstracts of the Contribution and convert or allow conversion into any format including without limitation audio, iii) create any other derivative work(s) based in whole or part on the Contribution, iv) to exploit all subsidiary rights that currently exist or as may exist in the future in the Contribution, v) the inclusion of electronic links from the Contribution to third party material where-ever it may be located; and, vi) licence any third party to do any or all of the above.

If you and/or any co-author’s employer own the copyright to the Contribution, you must obtain in writing, the relevant employers’ consent to grant the licence and agree to all obligations herein.

The author(s) hereby agree that, in the event that BMJ and/or BMAS sell the whole or part of its journal business to any third party or BMAS transfers its publishing services to another publisher other than BMJ, the benefit and the burden of the Licence contained herein shall be assigned to that third party.

Additional rights and obligations

The author(s) (and their employers as applicable), hereby authorise the Publisher to take such steps as they consider necessary at their own expense in the copyright owner’s name and on their behalf, if they believe that a third party is infringing or is likely to infringe copyright or the rights granted to the Publisher herein in the Contribution without further recourse to the copyright owner(s).

The author(s) acknowledge and accept that BMJ may make additional changes to the Contribution as considered necessary in accordance with standard editorial processes whether before or after publication. The Corresponding Author will usually see proofs for their Contribution and every effort will be made to consult with the Corresponding Author if substantial alterations are made. BMJ may also retract or publish a correction or other notice when it considers this appropriate for legal or editorial reasons and this shall be at its absolute discretion which shall be exercised reasonably.

Reversion of rights

If the Contribution is not published in the print or electronic versions of the Journal or any other Publisher’s products within 12 months of final acceptance by BMJ, (or as otherwise agreed in writing), any Licence granted herein shall automatically terminate and all rights shall revert to the copyright owner. The Publisher may keep a copy of the Contribution as a record (including via any contractor).

BMJ

Open Access Articles

Open Access means that the author or their employer or other institution has agreed with the Publisher that this Contribution should be considered an open access contribution and has paid the Publisher the standard rate in force.

For Open Access articles, the Publisher expressly agrees to place the published Contribution for display on PMC (including for deposit by PMC on their international mirror sites) promptly after allocation of an issue number and thereafter publication, without extra charge for this deposit to the authors or their employers or other institution that has agreed with the Publisher to make the article Open Access (provided PMC does not charge the Publisher), which will include any Publisher supplied amendments or retractions.

Open Access articles may be reused by Contributors and any third party under the terms of the one of the following Creative Commons licences depending on the source of the research funding as per below:

a) where the Contribution research is not funded by the Wellcome Trust or Research Councils UK (RCUK), the Contribution may be re-used under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial 4.0 International (CC-BY-NC 4.0) see:

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/>

and

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/legalcode>

or any updated versions as determined by the Publisher from time to time.

or

b) where the Contribution research is funded by the Wellcome Trust or UK Research Council, the Contribution may be re-used under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International Licence (CC-BY 4.0) see:

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

and

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/legalcode>

or any updated versions as determined by the Publisher from time to time

Authors shall be given the opportunity at the point of submission to indicate the funding source and therefore which Creative Commons licence should apply.

In the case of Open Access articles only, to the extent the terms of this licence conflict with the terms of the applicable Creative Commons licence, the terms of the relevant Creative Commons licence shall prevail.

All Publisher's trademarks must be removed from any derivative works. Any translations, for which a prior translation agreement with BMJ has not been established, must prominently display the statement:

"This is an unofficial translation of an article that appeared in a BMJ publication. BMJ or BMAS has not endorsed this translation."

Rights granted to owners of the contribution

Ownership of copyright remains with the author(s) or their employers if they are acting in the course of their employment. All rights not expressly granted are, subject to the Licence terms, reserved by the Publisher. In return for the grant of the Licence herein, the copyright owner(s) shall have the following rights for non-Commercial Use (unless otherwise stated) of the Contribution:

1. The right to reproduce a reasonable number (no more than 100) print copies of the final Contribution, by copying or downloading from BMJ's website, for personal use and to send copies to colleagues in print or electronic form provided no fee is charged and this is not done on a systematic basis (which includes via mass e-mailings).
2. The right to include the Contribution in a compilation for classroom use (course packs) to be distributed free of charge (other than for direct photocopying cost) to students at the Contributor(s)'s institution or to be stored in digital format in data rooms for access by students as part of their course work and for in house training programmes of the Contributor(s)'s employer or at seminars or conferences subject to a limit of 100 copies per conference or seminar.
3. i) The right to post the accepted manuscript (but not the final published version of the Contribution), and the abstract of the final published Contribution on the Contributor(s)'s own and/or his/her institution's website, ii) for Open Access articles the right to publish the final published Contribution and abstract, as published by the Publisher, in any media from the date of publication for non Commercial Use; iii) for Open Access articles the right to share, adapt and make Use of the work in accordance with applicable Creative Commons licence subject to adhering to the requirements stated in this licence under the heading "Open Access"; iii) in order to comply with a recognised list of funding bodies' policies (list of recognised funding bodies provided here:

<http://www.sherpa.ac.uk/juliet/>) the right to place the accepted manuscript version but not the final published version on PMC (including for deposit by PMC on its international mirror sites) after an embargo period of 12 months from the print publication date or if not published in print, from being published online unless otherwise stated by the Funding Body.

The following statements must accompany the articles posted on the Contributor(s)'s and/or his/her institution's website:

Non-Open Access article acknowledgement

This article has been accepted for publication in Acupuncture in Medicine following peer review. The definitive copyedited, typeset version is available online at: <http://aim.bmj.com/> [Contributor please insert complete citation information when available]

Open Access article acknowledgement

This article has been accepted for publication in Acupuncture in Medicine following peer review and can also be viewed on the journal's website at <http://aim.bmj.com/> [Contributor please insert complete citation information when available]

4. The right to publish with the necessary acknowledgement of the Publisher and the Journal, all or part of the accepted manuscript version but not the final published version in a book essay, position paper, or other non peer reviewed publication authored or edited by the Contributor(s)'s (which may be an author's Commercial Use). This does not apply to multiple Contributions in the same journal, for which permission from the Publisher must be sought.
5. The right to use selected figures and tables (of which the author or his employer owns or has licensed) and selected text (up to 300 words) from the Contribution for incorporation within another work published in print or digital format by a third party, so long as full credit is given to the Publisher and use of the parts of the Contribution is non Commercial Use.
6. Subject to it not being contrary to English law to do so (such as for example where the UK has trading or other bans with the country of the Corresponding Authors origin or certain groups of people within), the right to receive a 10% royalty for up to 5 years from publication of any net receipts less sales commission on single orders in excess of £2000 received by the Publisher for any single Contribution reprint to a single third party, subject however to any fee being determined (if charged) at the absolute discretion of the Publisher as may be altered from time to time. If the Publisher receives such an order for reprint sales of the Contribution, they will contact the Corresponding Author at the address given on the published Contribution to find out to whom payment should be made. Corresponding Authors have the responsibility to ensure that all authors have agreed what should be done with any such royalty payment and to keep the Publisher updated with current contact details.

For permission to use materials that are beyond uses permitted here, visit <http://group.bmj.com/group/rights-licensing/permissions>.

“Commercial Use” includes:

- copying or downloading of documents, or linking to such postings, for further redistribution, sale or licensing, for a fee;
- copying, downloading or posting by a site or service that incorporates advertising with such content;
- the inclusion or incorporation of document content in other works or services (other than for legally permitted quotations with an appropriate citation) that is then available for sale or licensing, for a fee.
- use of documents or document content (other than for legally permitted quotations with appropriate citation) by organisations for any promotional or advertising purposes whether direct or indirect, whether for a fee or otherwise. Distribution by or on behalf of pharmaceutical organisations is considered in all cases as Commercial Use;
- use for the purposes of monetary reward by means of sale, resale, license, loan, hire transfer or other form of commercial exploitation.

Author warranties

The author(s) warrant that: i) they are the sole author(s) of the Contribution which is an original work; ii) the whole or a substantial part of the Contribution has not previously been published; iii) they or their employers are the copyright owners of the Contribution; iv) to the best of their knowledge that the Contribution does not contain anything which is libellous, illegal or infringes any third party's copyright or other rights; v) that they have obtained all necessary written consents for any patient information which is supplied with the Contribution; and vi) that they have declared or will accurately declare all competing interests to the Publisher.

Anti Bribery

BMJ

As a service provider to BMJ, you agree that you shall: (a) comply with all applicable laws, statutes, regulations and codes relating to anti-bribery and anti-corruption including but not limited to the Bribery Act 2010 (Relevant Requirements); b) not engage in any activity, practice or conduct which would constitute an offence under sections 1, 2 or 6 of the Bribery Act 2010 (as amended) if such activity, practice or conduct had been carried out in the UK; (c) comply with any Publisher Ethics and Anti-bribery Policy supplied to you from time to time including as contained as follows (Relevant Policies):

<http://group.bmj.com/group/about/corporate/Anti-Bribery%20and%20Corruption%20Policy%20-August%202012.pdf>; (d) promptly report to the Chief Executive Officer or Chairman of the Publisher any request or demand for any undue financial or other advantage of any kind received by you in connection with the performance of this Agreement; Breach of this Clause shall be deemed a material breach of this Agreement.

Law and jurisdiction

To the fullest extent permitted by law, this Agreement will be governed by the laws of England and shall be governed and construed in accordance with the laws of England whose courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction, unless as at the date of formation of this Agreement either i) an English judgment could not be enforced in the Corresponding Author's stated country location; or ii) it would take six months or more for BMJ to enforce an English judgment in the Corresponding Author's stated country location, then it is hereby agreed that this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the Corresponding Author's stated country (or state if applicable) and their courts shall have jurisdiction. Notwithstanding any of the above, this clause is governed by the laws of England.

The following statement must be included in your manuscript (other than for US Federal Government Employees acting in the course of their employment):

"I [insert full name] The Corresponding Author of this article contained within the original manuscript which includes any diagrams & photographs and any related or stand alone film submitted (the Contribution") has the right to grant on behalf of all authors and does grant on behalf of all authors, a licence to the BMJ Publishing Group Ltd and its licensees, to permit this Contribution (if accepted) to be published in any BMJ products and to exploit all subsidiary rights, as set out in our licence set out at:

<http://aim.bmj.com/site/about/licence.pdf>

IF YOU ARE A NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF HEALTH ("NIH") EMPLOYEE, CONTRACTOR OR TRAINEE ADD: I am a National Institute of Health ("NIH") employee, contractor or trainee, and the following cover sheet will be accepted by BMJ and NIH and incorporated into the above Licence <http://group.bmj.com/products/journals/instructions-for-authors/nihcoversheet.pdf>

The following statement must be included in your manuscript for US Federal Government employees acting in the course of their employment:

"I [insert full name] The Corresponding Author has the right on behalf of all Contributors to seek publication by BMJ of all content within the submitted Contribution or as later submitted (which includes without limitation any diagrams, photographs, other illustrative material, video, film or any other material howsoever submitted by any of the Contributors at any time and related to this article) and to grant the warranties all as fully set out here: <http://aim.bmj.com/site/about/licence.pdf>

Please tick one or more boxes as appropriate on the submission system:

- I am the sole author of the Contribution.
- I am one author signing on behalf of all co-authors of the Contribution.
- The Contribution has been made in the course of my employment and I am signing as authorised by my employer.
- I am a US Federal Government employee acting in the course of my employment.
- I am not a US Federal Government employee, but some or all of my co-authors are.
- I am an employee of the UK Crown acting in the course of my employment.*
- I am not an employee of the UK Crown acting in the course of my employment but some/all of my co-authors are.*

*Such authors should consult the any guidance issued by their employer and if necessary return any completed form; <http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/documents/information-management/articles-ministers-civil-servants-annexa.pdf>